Hairfree Underarms Clean and Comfortable

Removing the hair from the underarms with El Radio relieves the annoyance and discomfort of excessive perspiration. While absolutely necessary for the wearing of sleeveless gowns and sheer blouses, the hair is removed as much for comfort and cleanliness as to meet the dictates of fashion. It has enabled many women to discard the cumbersome dress shield with perfect safety, and insures an underarm smoothness as fresh and cool as a baby's.

The thought of shaving is naturally distasteful to most women, but with El Radio, a sanitary liquid toilet preparation, the hair may be removed in a way that is pleasant, harmless, and altogether womanly.

El Radio removes hair from the face, lip, neck or arms by dissolving it in a few moments, almost like washing it off. Easily applied with piece of absorbent cotton, and does not increase or contract later hair growth. You can help a lot by suggesting El Radio to the women in doubt. Money-back guarantee. At all toilet counters. 50c and $1.00.

Many of the New York clothiers each contributed some of their most fashionable products for this parade and that probably accounts for its immense success.

The evening Miss Hammerich again appeared with a prettily decorated basket and from it gave to the bride to be many pretty miscellaneous articles, constituting a shower that the Middy Maidens had arranged for Miss Bertelsen upon learning that the party was to be an announcement affair, taking her quite by surprise.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I went to see an attorney and he said my marriage was valid and so later I called on another attorney to have him enter proceedings to annul my marriage. When I told him my grounds he scoffed at them. I will not go into details about my case, but since my marriage I have found out why my husband did some foolish things.

When we were married he misspelled his name and gave a false birthplace to both the minister and the recorder. He is all a woman could ask for a husband; but I cannot find any happiness with him since I learned of his deception. Can you give me any light?

CONSTANT READER.

If your marriage is valid it is legal. So you see, the attorneys agree.

You are the man's wife regardless of the name and address he gave—that is unless he was married before and his wife is still living and not divorced. I see no reason why you should not be happy with him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am 19 years old and engaged to a young man seven years older than I am. He wants to be married this June. I am a working girl and do not earn very much money. He has asked me to accept money from him several times and I have refused all except once. Then I took $10 because I got behind with my board bill. I intended to pay it back, but I have not been able yet. I do not earn enough money to buy nice things to get married in. Do you think it would be all right for me to let him give me money for some new clothes?

(2) My sweetheart's mother objects to me because I am a working girl. Do you think I should marry him in spite of that? She is rude to me when she sees me. This makes him feel very badly and he says that I must not care, because it makes him love me all the more. Do you think she will make me unhappy after I am married?

(1) Wear the best you have now to be married in and don't accept money from him until after you are his wife. Then will be time enough to buy pretty things. Of course it would be pleasant to have pretty wedding clothes, but I should think it would be better to do the best you can and not accept money from the man.

(2) Of course you should marry the man you love whether his mother likes you or not. I don't believe she can very greatly affect your future happiness. You ought to be happier in spite of her interference than you would without him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am 12 years old. Do you think it would be proper to talk to boy friends?

(2) Do you think it would be proper for me to go to dances?

(3) Do you think it proper for me to send notes by my sister to a boy in the first year of high school?

PANCAKES.

(1) It is all right to play with boys and in doing so you would talk to them of course, but it is not all right for little girls to stand around talking to them and to regard them sentimentally.

(2) It would not be proper for you to go to dances at night. If you attend dancing school and there is an afternoon party there is no reason why you should not go.

(3) No, I do not.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Do you think it would be all right for a girl of 15 to keep house in a family where there are two hired men and the manager of the place while his wife is away for a few weeks, if the manager's sister, who is a girl of 19, unmarried, stays with her?

DOUBTFUL.

It would be proper.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

THE TABLE.

Frizzled Dried Beef—One-half pound dried beef, four to six bananas, three tablespoons bacon drippings. Heat bacon fat in frying pan and add dried beef (unfreshened) picked into small pieces. Fry five to ten minutes, then transfer beef to a hot platter and put bananas cut in halves crosswise and lengthwise in the frying pan. Do not allow them to cook, but turn almost immediately, letting them stand only long enough to heat through. Arrange around the beef.

Salad Dressing—Quick and economical. One tablespoon prepared mustard, one tablespoon sugar. Thin with milk to desired consistency, beat well. Especially good on lettuce.

Gravy Without Meat—Put into a skillet one tablespoon each of butter and lard and let get hot. Into this pour one tablespoon or so of cream. Stir this until cream separates and the chunks become a golden brown. Then stir in your flour, as in making gravy, add half milk and half water, according to your flour.

Lady Washington Cake—One pint cake crumbs, one cup New Orleans molasses, one-half cup sour milk, one even teaspoon soda, one-fourth cup brown sugar, two heaping tablespoons lard or butter, a little lemon peel grated, one teaspoon cinnamon, same of allspice, one egg, a handful of currants and enough sifted flour to make a soft dough. Bake in shallow pan or cup cake tins. Frost with chocolate or white icing. You can use corn syrup or jelly instead of molasses; also bread crumbs instead of cake crumbs. Many add candied fruit and nuts to taste.

Lima Bean Salad—One pint cold lima beans, one small onion minced fine, a little parsley. Cook the following and cover the beans and minced onions, using the parsley for a garnish. Salad dressing: Two raw eggs, one-half teaspoon dry mustard, one tablespoon butter, scant one-half cupful sugar, eight teaspoonfuls vinegar, wet the mustard with a little cold vinegar, boil the rest of the vinegar and add the other ingredients. Place the bowl containing the dressing over hot water and stir until the dressing is thick and creamy.

TO LAUNDRY DELICATE FABRICS.

Chiffon trimmings or waists that cannot stand much rubbing, are easily cleaned in this way:

Take a two-quart glass jar for waists and smaller jars for trimmings. The garment should be well covered with gasoline, but not more than three-quarters of the jar should be full.

After the lid is put on tight, shake the jar with two hands until you think the waist is clean. Pour off this gasoline and put on clean, to rinse. Then shake out garment and dry.

If the gasoline is not too dirty, save for another time. Soapsuds made from good soap can also be used for crepe de chine or fine silk waists. Proceed in same manner as when using gasoline.

YOU cannot begin too soon to use Ivory Soap for washing dishes. For the sooner you do, the sooner you will save your hands from the injurious effects of the ordinary soaps usually used.

Ivory Soap being made for toilet, bath and very fine laundry purposes, contains only the highest grade materials. It cleanses the dishes but does not injure the hands. They become only softer, smoother and whiter for its use.
